What's CLICK?

What's Now at CLICK?

What's Next at CLICK?

“The rapidly changing world of library and information science requires that 21st century information professionals update their skills through continuing education. CLICK brings a collaborative model of online education to our membership, reversing the 20th century model that required people to go somewhere for learning experiences. CLICK brings the learning experiences to the learner – in the format they want.”

“CLICK’s programs will continue to increase in value and scope. We are exploring partnerships with other institutions and our offerings will be enhanced and expanded through our adjunct faculty. We are also sure that the technology underlying online education will continue to improve exponentially. With CLICK, we have laid the foundation for the future and this is only the beginning.”
